

TOP MARKS

Look for the marks of distinction

Not all products and companies are equal. Some businesses use sustainable materials and production methods that help animals and the environment. It's easy to spot them as their products come with special logos called certification marks. That way it's easy to choose products that are good for wildlife.

Score Top Marks by spotting environmentally friendly products that display these marks.

How to play

When you visit the supermarket, see how many products with these sustainability certification marks you can find.

You earn 1 point for each product. Compete with your family and friends to see who can score the most points!

You can also look around your home to see if these everyday items have sustainability certification marks.

Be sure to encourage your family and friends to always buy certified sustainably sourced eco-friendly products that are good for our animal friends.
